

WHERE:

Kiev is located in northern Ukraine, on the banks of the Dnepr river and near the Belarusian border in the direction of Homel.

The river divides the city into two unequal parts. The historic centre is on the right bank while the left bank is occupied by residential areas, none of which date back any further than the 20th century.

WHEN:

April 2016

THE REQUEST:

The pairing of two e.sybox pumping sets with the e.sytwin base has proven to be highly successful, as it is a revolutionary system offering many advantages in the pressurisation for medium and large residential complexes.

Compact size, attractive aesthetics, operation more silent than that of any other pump, simple hydraulic connections, complete and integrated kit of accessories (including expansion vessel), autonomous intercommunication between the two units without need for external devices: these are just some of the assets that e.sybox offers the market of domestic pumps.
